Station Managers report:

Over the summer period Bath crews have been busy engaging with members of the public with the focus on outdoor safety eg bbq safety, cooking safety. Crews undertook canal and riverside visits to boats delivering safety messages whilst providing owners with heat detectors. White Watch along with Headquarter staff attended the Bath Pride / carnival event which proved to be a great success giving us the opportunity to talk about careers in the Fire service whilst giving safety messages. We will be continuing our work on water safety by visiting local universities and colleges and inviting schools to arrange dates so we can give our water safety presentations. With the people we come into contact with our aim is always to try and make their lives that bit better whether it is a Home fire safety visit or getting other agencies involved to assist them.

National Campaign Theme:

As the nights start drawing in Avon Fire & Rescue Service are working with universities, the police and key agencies to deliver safety messages concerning water, fire and personal safety.
